

Data Center Hosting, also known as the collocation service, provides customer with a controlled environment from the point of view of temperature, humidity, as well as access to important telecommunications nodes, and a redundant and protected power supply network. This service is specially designed to accommodate the "business critical" equipment, equipment serving vital services (E-mail, domain Web hosting) or serving multiple users that access them via the Internet (software servers, ERP, network domains).

- ❖ Hosting in a data center offers security to any business: limiting the access of unauthorized personnel to their own equipment and power supply from a secure network. Hosting in data center near main presence points of the telecommunications networks ensures availability of the service of 99.9 %..

Advantages and Benefits:

- ✓ ensures the proper operation of the equipment for a long period of time, without the need of operations of maintenance, everything, thanks to a controlled environment
- ✓ video monitoring services and for the identification of the persons who have access to the data center
- ✓ the possibility of providing service "remote hands"
- ✓ the possibility of selecting a scalable solutions according to the space requirements